1. An installation consisting of a mast about 10 meters high with two horizontal rods and two wings covered with wire was seen in a pine nursery on Apollensberg, on 1 December 1950.
2. In addition to the radar set on Apollensberg, a similar set was seen north of Apollensdorf on 12 December 1950. This set was about 750 meters farther east, and close to the edge of a woods. It was not seen there on 22 November. The two installations were connected by a double wire line strung on supports 2.5 meters high. A similar line led from Apollensberg south, and then along the Coswig-Wittenberg road toward Wittenberg. The following rotations were made by the second set between 2:20 and 2:35 p.m.: three full turns at the same speed, each turn lasting 60 seconds; followed by a one-minute pause, after which a half revolution was made which was followed by a two-minute pause; afterwards several quarter or half turns were made at irregular intervals but at the same speed. No trucks, tents, or temporary buildings were seen in the vicinity of the set. *
